

THE GOVERNORSHIP

Senator Mapp is being urged by many of his friends to announce himself a candidate for Governor. Congressman Flood's friends want to see him enter the race, but it is certain that with Mapp and Flood both in the race, Tucker will win the nomination. It is understood that the friends of Mapp, Flood and Mapp are conferring in Washington now about the matter, and an announcement is expected any day as to which one of the gentlemen will make the fight against Mr. Tucker. We are told by the best posted men that Mr. Flood is not encouraging the sentiment in his favor, but rather discouraging it. Should his friends prevail on him to enter the race, an old-time campaign will be waged over the State.

WOMEN ENFRANCHISED

The Legislature of Tennessee has ratified the 19th amendment to the Constitution of the U. S., which provides that the right of citizens of the U. S. to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex. The ratification has been certified to Washington, and our women now have the right to vote. A shame on the men of Virginia that they failed to see the justice of the demand of our women and voted against the amendment. They will soon be on the wagon with the ladies. Now ladies, come on pay your $1.00 capitation tax and vote the Democratic ticket, the party which gave you the deciding vote enfranchising you.

Good Roads Must Come

If the State is enabled to issue bonds for road building, Virginia can have an adequate system of improved highways in five or six years, according to a statement made by State Highway Commissioner George P. Coleman. Under the present plan of road building through State appropriation and Federal aid, it will require fifteen or sixteen years to accomplish this, Mr. Coleman thinks. Mr. Coleman has pointed out in addresses made recently that it will be possible to raise as much as $40,000,000 by a State bond issue without increasing the tax rate. He estimates that the bonds can be retired in fifteen years and that this can be done without burdening the State financially.

Amendment of the State Constitution to permit the commonwealth to issue bonds for road work will go to a vote of the people on November 2. Before that time, residents in the rural districts and towns, as well as in the cities, will have an opportunity to see what a great need exists in Virginia for good roads, through the exhibition of a five-reel motion picture, "Virginia's New Road," under the auspices of the Virginia Good Roads Association. This picture will be shown in school houses and halls in every county in the State. Through it, every Virginian will be made familiar with the poor roads in the Old Dominion at the present time and will be shown the benefits which would result from an adequate highway system. V. D. Robinson, executive secretary of the association, is now preparing an itinerary for the picture that will give it the widest possible distribution.

Huckingham

A lady friend told this joke. She said a local epistoler was asked by some young girl why she never married, and she told him that she did not want to come to him until she was old enough to be asked, "because I never had a chance."

Miss Maudie Jones

Miss Maudie Jones, who was truly a lovely character, she was a great favorite among her friends and relatives. She made friends wherever she went. Her sisters and brothers came from far distant homes in other States to be with her in her last illness. Mr. Peyton Moss is spending his last days at his old home here.

Miss Lucy A. Moss

Miss Lucy A. Moss expects to resume her work at the high school at Appomattox, five miles from Richmond. There was a select few at the Presbyterian church here Sunday. The bridge from North river kept some away, while others went to join the great throng at the big tabernacle. I was at both places and heard some good preaching. Dinner was served on the tabernacle grounds for those who brought none with them. The price of the meal was 50 cents and they had a fine time.

A feature I never witnessed before

was the singing of a hymn just before the meal and one of the ministers acted as a blessing. Mr. F. W. Chubbuck came home from Lynchburg Saturday and says the have and dedication caused by the great storm was awful. The river must have been high indeed to wash the big iron bridge away above Virginia.

Excess of heat, cold, rain, snow and dry weather

all come, and we cannot prevent them, but we are allowed to prepare for them. Excesses rather than to complain and say we never saw anything like it before. Mrs. White has been very ill at the home of Miss Fannie White near this place; these people are newcomers here and are nice and refined people.

Evergreen

"Did you ever see so much rain?" is the most familiar speech one hears now. We will be delighted to see a good sunny day, but this is not the case in winter months. Mr. Marcellus Fitzgerald, who has been visiting relatives around here, will return to his home in Petersburg this week. He came here after his daughter, Lucile, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee, who have been visiting relatives around here, will return to their home in Petersburg this week. He came here after his daughter, Lucile, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee.

Miss Mattie Farrar

Miss Mattie Farrar is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hubert Fishman, and attending the concert meeting this week. Mr. Jack Staples, of Albemarle, visiting his home people here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas and daughter, of West Virginia, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. H. Thomas, of the same place, are in the city. Mr. W. H. Thomas and Mr. G. T. Farrar last week. Mr. Adams is now the worthy sheriff of this county, and though a new arrival, he is very vigorous, full of life, and is entertaining in his recital of happenings of the day. Though a bachelor, Mr. Adams is a very vigorous, full of life, and is entertaining in his recital of happenings of the day.

Miss Mary Morgan

Miss Mary Morgan, of Lexington, was a guest of Miss Edna Morgan during her recent visit. Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Under have returned to Appomattox, after a short visit to their home in Richmond.

Miss Maudie Jones

Miss Maudie Jones, who was truly a lovely character, she was a great favorite among her friends and relatives. She made friends wherever she went. Her sisters and brothers came from far distant homes in other States to be with her in her last illness. Mr. Peyton Moss is spending his last days at his old home here.

Miss Lucy A. Moss

Miss Lucy A. Moss expects to resume her work at the high school at Appomattox, five miles from Richmond. There was a select few at the Presbyterian church here Sunday. The bridge from North river kept some away, while others went to join the great throng at the big tabernacle. I was at both places and heard some good preaching. Dinner was served on the tabernacle grounds for those who brought none with them. The price of the meal was 50 cents and they had a fine time.

A feature I never witnessed before

was the singing of a hymn just before the meal and one of the ministers acted as a blessing. Mr. F. W. Chubbuck came home from Lynchburg Saturday and says the have and dedication caused by the great storm was awful. The river must have been high indeed to wash the big iron bridge away above Virginia.

Excess of heat, cold, rain, snow and dry weather

all come, and we cannot prevent them, but we are allowed to prepare for them. Excesses rather than to complain and say we never saw anything like it before. Mrs. White has been very ill at the home of Miss Fannie White near this place; these people are newcomers here and are nice and refined people.

Evergreen

"Did you ever see so much rain?" is the most familiar speech one hears now. We will be delighted to see a good sunny day, but this is not the case in winter months. Mr. Marcellus Fitzgerald, who has been visiting relatives around here, will return to his home in Petersburg this week. He came here after his daughter, Lucile, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee, who have been visiting relatives around here, will return to their home in Petersburg this week. He came here after his daughter, Lucile, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee.

Miss Mattie Farrar

Miss Mattie Farrar is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hubert Fishman, and attending the concert meeting this week. Mr. Jack Staples, of Albemarle, visiting his home people here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas and daughter, of West Virginia, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. H. Thomas, of the same place, are in the city. Mr. W. H. Thomas and Mr. G. T. Farrar last week. Mr. Adams is now the worthy sheriff of this county, and though a new arrival, he is very vigorous, full of life, and is entertaining in his recital of happenings of the day. Though a bachelor, Mr. Adams is a very vigorous, full of life, and is entertaining in his recital of happenings of the day.

Miss Mary Morgan

Miss Mary Morgan, of Lexington, was a guest of Miss Edna Morgan during her recent visit. Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Under have returned to Appomattox, after a short visit to their home in Richmond.

Miss Maudie Jones

Miss Maudie Jones, who was truly a lovely character, she was a great favorite among her friends and relatives. She made friends wherever she went. Her sisters and brothers came from far distant homes in other States to be with her in her last illness. Mr. Peyton Moss is spending his last days at his old home here.

Miss Lucy A. Moss

Miss Lucy A. Moss expects to resume her work at the high school at Appomattox, five miles from Richmond. There was a select few at the Presbyterian church here Sunday. The bridge from North river kept some away, while others went to join the great throng at the big tabernacle. I was at both places and heard some good preaching. Dinner was served on the tabernacle grounds for those who brought none with them. The price of the meal was 50 cents and they had a fine time.

A feature I never witnessed before

was the singing of a hymn just before the meal and one of the ministers acted as a blessing. Mr. F. W. Chubbuck came home from Lynchburg Saturday and says the have and dedication caused by the great storm was awful. The river must have been high indeed to wash the big iron bridge away above Virginia.

Excess of heat, cold, rain, snow and dry weather

all come, and we cannot prevent them, but we are allowed to prepare for them. Excesses rather than to complain and say we never saw anything like it before. Mrs. White has been very ill at the home of Miss Fannie White near this place; these people are newcomers here and are nice and refined people.

Evergreen

"Did you ever see so much rain?" is the most familiar speech one hears now. We will be delighted to see a good sunny day, but this is not the case in winter months. Mr. Marcellus Fitzgerald, who has been visiting relatives around here, will return to his home in Petersburg this week. He came here after his daughter, Lucile, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee, who have been visiting relatives around here, will return to their home in Petersburg this week. He came here after his daughter, Lucile, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee.

Miss Mattie Farrar

Miss Mattie Farrar is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hubert Fishman, and attending the concert meeting this week. Mr. Jack Staples, of Albemarle, visiting his home people here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas and daughter, of West Virginia, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. H. Thomas, of the same place, are in the city. Mr. W. H. Thomas and Mr. G. T. Farrar last week. Mr. Adams is now the worthy sheriff of this county, and though a new arrival, he is very vigorous, full of life, and is entertaining in his recital of happenings of the day. Though a bachelor, Mr. Adams is a very vigorous, full of life, and is entertaining in his recital of happenings of the day.

Miss Mary Morgan

Miss Mary Morgan, of Lexington, was a guest of Miss Edna Morgan during her recent visit. Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Under have returned to Appomattox, after a short visit to their home in Richmond.

Miss Maudie Jones

Miss Maudie Jones, who was truly a lovely character, she was a great favorite among her friends and relatives. She made friends wherever she went. Her sisters and brothers came from far distant homes in other States to be with her in her last illness. Mr. Peyton Moss is spending his last days at his old home here.

Miss Lucy A. Moss

Miss Lucy A. Moss expects to resume her work at the high school at Appomattox, five miles from Richmond. There was a select few at the Presbyterian church here Sunday. The bridge from North river kept some away, while others went to join the great throng at the big tabernacle. I was at both places and heard some good preaching. Dinner was served on the tabernacle grounds for those who brought none with them. The price of the meal was 50 cents and they had a fine time.

A feature I never witnessed before

was the singing of a hymn just before the meal and one of the ministers acted as a blessing. Mr. F. W. Chubbuck came home from Lynchburg Saturday and says the have and dedication caused by the great storm was awful. The river must have been high indeed to wash the big iron bridge away above Virginia.

Excess of heat, cold, rain, snow and dry weather

all come, and we cannot prevent them, but we are allowed to prepare for them. Excesses rather than to complain and say we never saw anything like it before. Mrs. White has been very ill at the home of Miss Fannie White near this place; these people are newcomers here and are nice and refined people.

Evergreen

"Did you ever see so much rain?" is the most familiar speech one hears now. We will be delighted to see a good sunny day, but this is not the case in winter months. Mr. Marcellus Fitzgerald, who has been visiting relatives around here, will return to his home in Petersburg this week. He came here after his daughter, Lucile, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee, who have been visiting relatives around here, will return to their home in Petersburg this week. He came here after his daughter, Lucile, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee.

Miss Mattie Farrar

Miss Mattie Farrar is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hubert Fishman, and attending the concert meeting this week. Mr. Jack Staples, of Albemarle, visiting his home people here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas and daughter, of West Virginia, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. H. Thomas, of the same place, are in the city. Mr. W. H. Thomas and Mr. G. T. Farrar last week. Mr. Adams is now the worthy sheriff of this county, and though a new arrival, he is very vigorous, full of life, and is entertaining in his recital of happenings of the day. Though a bachelor, Mr. Adams is a very vigorous, full of life, and is entertaining in his recital of happenings of the day.

Miss Mary Morgan

Miss Mary Morgan, of Lexington, was a guest of Miss Edna Morgan during her recent visit. Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Under have returned to Appomattox, after a short visit to their home in Richmond.

Miss Maudie Jones

Miss Maudie Jones, who was truly a lovely character, she was a great favorite among her friends and relatives. She made friends wherever she went. Her sisters and brothers came from far distant homes in other States to be with her in her last illness. Mr. Peyton Moss is spending his last days at his old home here.

Miss Lucy A. Moss

Miss Lucy A. Moss expects to resume her work at the high school at Appomattox, five miles from Richmond. There was a select few at the Presbyterian church here Sunday. The bridge from North river kept some away, while others went to join the great throng at the big tabernacle. I was at both places and heard some good preaching. Dinner was served on the tabernacle grounds for those who brought none with them. The price of the meal was 50 cents and they had a fine time.

A feature I never witnessed before

was the singing of a hymn just before the meal and one of the ministers acted as a blessing. Mr. F. W. Chubbuck came home from Lynchburg Saturday and says the have and dedication caused by the great storm was awful. The river must have been high indeed to wash the big iron bridge away above Virginia.

Excess of heat, cold, rain, snow and dry weather

all come, and we cannot prevent them, but we are allowed to prepare for them. Excesses rather than to complain and say we never saw anything like it before. Mrs. White has been very ill at the home of Miss Fannie White near this place; these people are newcomers here and are nice and refined people.

Evergreen

"Did you ever see so much rain?" is the most familiar speech one hears now. We will be delighted to see a good sunny day, but this is not the case in winter months. Mr. Marcellus Fitzgerald, who has been visiting relatives around here, will return to his home in Petersburg this week. He came here after his daughter, Lucile, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee, who have been visiting relatives around here, will return to their home in Petersburg this week. He came here after his daughter, Lucile, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee.

Miss Mattie Farrar

Miss Mattie Farrar is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hubert Fishman, and attending the concert meeting this week. Mr. Jack Staples, of Albemarle, visiting his home people here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas and daughter, of West Virginia, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. H. Thomas, of the same place, are in the city. Mr. W. H. Thomas and Mr. G. T. Farrar last week. Mr. Adams is now the worthy sheriff of this county, and though a new arrival, he is very vigorous, full of life, and is entertaining in his recital of happenings of the day. Though a bachelor, Mr. Adams is a very vigorous, full of life, and is entertaining in his recital of happenings of the day.

Miss Mary Morgan

Miss Mary Morgan, of Lexington, was a guest of Miss Edna Morgan during her recent visit. Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Under have returned to Appomattox, after a short visit to their home in Richmond.

Miss Maudie Jones

Miss Maudie Jones, who was truly a lovely character, she was a great favorite among her friends and relatives. She made friends wherever she went. Her sisters and brothers came from far distant homes in other States to be with her in her last illness. Mr. Peyton Moss is spending his last days at his old home here.

Miss Lucy A. Moss

Miss Lucy A. Moss expects to resume her work at the high school at Appomattox, five miles from Richmond. There was a select few at the Presbyterian church here Sunday. The bridge from North river kept some away, while others went to join the great throng at the big tabernacle. I was at both places and heard some good preaching. Dinner was served on the tabernacle grounds for those who brought none with them. The price of the meal was 50 cents and they had a fine time.

A feature I never witnessed before

was the singing of a hymn just before the meal and one of the ministers acted as a blessing. Mr. F. W. Chubbuck came home from Lynchburg Saturday and says the have and dedication caused by the great storm was awful. The river must have been high indeed to wash the big iron bridge away above Virginia.

Excess of heat, cold, rain, snow and dry weather

all come, and we cannot prevent them, but we are allowed to prepare for them. Excesses rather than to complain and say we never saw anything like it before. Mrs. White has been very ill at the home of Miss Fannie White near this place; these people are newcomers here and are nice and refined people.

Evergreen

"Did you ever see so much rain?" is the most familiar speech one hears now. We will be delighted to see a good sunny day, but this is not the case in winter months. Mr. Marcellus Fitzgerald, who has been visiting relatives around here, will return to his home in Petersburg this week. He came here after his daughter, Lucile, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee, who have been visiting relatives around here, will return to their home in Petersburg this week. He came here after his daughter, Lucile, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee.

Miss Mattie Farrar

Miss Mattie Farrar is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hubert Fishman, and attending the concert meeting this week. Mr. Jack Staples, of Albemarle, visiting his home people here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas and daughter, of West Virginia, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. H. Thomas, of the same place, are in the city. Mr. W. H. Thomas and Mr. G. T. Farrar last week. Mr. Adams is now the worthy sheriff of this county, and though a new arrival, he is very vigorous, full of life, and is entertaining in his recital of happenings of the day. Though a bachelor, Mr. Adams is a very vigorous, full of life, and is entertaining in his recital of happenings of the day.

Miss Mary Morgan

Miss Mary Morgan, of Lexington, was a guest of Miss Edna Morgan during her recent visit. Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Under have returned to Appomattox, after a short visit to their home in Richmond.

Miss Maudie Jones

Miss Maudie Jones, who was truly a lovely character, she was a great favorite among her friends and relatives. She made friends wherever she went. Her sisters and brothers came from far distant homes in other States to be with her in her last illness. Mr. Peyton Moss is spending his last days at his old home here.

Miss Lucy A. Moss

Miss Lucy A. Moss expects to resume her work at the high school at Appomattox, five miles from Richmond. There was a select few at the Presbyterian church here Sunday. The bridge from North river kept some away, while others went to join the great throng at the big tabernacle. I was at both places and heard some good preaching. Dinner was served on the tabernacle grounds for those who brought none with them. The price of the meal was 50 cents and they had a fine time.

A feature I never witnessed before

was the singing of a hymn just before the meal and one of the ministers acted as a blessing. Mr. F. W. Chubbuck came home from Lynchburg Saturday and says the have and dedication caused by the great storm was awful. The river must have been high indeed to wash the big iron bridge away above Virginia.

Excess of heat, cold, rain, snow and dry weather

all come, and we cannot prevent them, but we are allowed to prepare for them. Excesses rather than to complain and say we never saw anything like it before. Mrs. White has been very ill at the home of Miss Fannie White near this place; these people are newcomers here and are nice and refined people.

Evergreen

"Did you ever see so much rain?" is the most familiar speech one hears now. We will be delighted to see a good sunny day, but this is not the case in winter months. Mr. Marcellus Fitzgerald, who has been visiting relatives around here, will return to his home in Petersburg this week. He came here after his daughter, Lucile, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee, who have been visiting relatives around here, will return to their home in Petersburg this week. He came here after his daughter, Lucile, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee.

Miss Mattie Farrar

Miss Mattie Farrar is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hubert Fishman, and attending the concert meeting this week. Mr. Jack Staples, of Albemarle, visiting his home people here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas and daughter, of West Virginia, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. H. Thomas, of the same place, are in the city. Mr. W. H. Thomas and Mr. G. T. Farrar last week. Mr. Adams is now the worthy sheriff of this county, and though a new arrival, he is very vigorous, full of life, and is entertaining in his recital of happenings of the day. Though a bachelor, Mr. Adams is a very vigorous, full of life, and is entertaining in his recital of happenings of the day.

Miss Mary Morgan

Miss Mary Morgan, of Lexington, was a guest of Miss Edna Morgan during her recent visit. Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Under have returned to Appomattox, after a short visit to their home in Richmond.

Miss Maudie Jones

Miss Maudie Jones, who was truly a lovely character, she was a great favorite among her friends and relatives. She made friends wherever she went. Her sisters and brothers came from far distant homes in other States to be with her in her last illness. Mr. Peyton Moss is spending his last days at his old home here.

Miss Lucy A. Moss

Miss Lucy A. Moss expects to resume her work at the high school at Appomattox, five miles from Richmond. There was a select few at the Presbyterian church here Sunday. The bridge from North river kept some away, while others went to join the great throng at the big tabernacle. I was at both places and heard some good preaching. Dinner was served on the tabernacle grounds for those who brought none with them. The price of the meal was 50 cents and they had a fine time.

A feature I never witnessed before

was the singing of a hymn just before the meal and one of the ministers acted as a blessing. Mr. F. W. Chubbuck came home from Lynchburg Saturday and says the have and dedication caused by the great storm was awful. The river must have been high indeed to wash the big iron bridge away above Virginia.

Excess of heat, cold, rain, snow and dry weather

all come, and we cannot prevent them, but we are allowed to prepare for them. Excesses rather than to complain and say we never saw anything like it before. Mrs. White has been very ill at the home of Miss Fannie White near this place; these people are newcomers here and are nice and refined people.

Evergreen

"Did you ever see so much rain?" is the most familiar speech one hears now. We will be delighted to see a good sunny day, but this is not the case in winter months. Mr. Marcellus Fitzgerald, who has been visiting relatives around here, will return to his home in Petersburg this week. He came here after his daughter, Lucile, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee, who have been visiting relatives around here, will return to their home in Petersburg this week. He came here after his daughter, Lucile, who has been spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee.

Miss Mattie Farrar

Miss Mattie Farrar is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hubert Fishman, and attending the concert meeting this week. Mr. Jack Staples, of Albemarle, visiting his home people here.